

ONLINE COURSE for individuals	ONLINE COURSE just for your school
Online course instruction is designed and led by the program's co-author, Kevin D. Washburn, Ed.D.	Online course instruction is designed and led by the program's co-author, Kevin D. Washburn, Ed.D.
Course materials and training are current (updated summer 2020)	Course materials and training are current (updated summer 2020)
The online course is open seven weeks so participants can enjoy the flexibility of a self-paced course	The online course dates are set to fit your school's calendar and are open for seven weeks; participants can enjoy the flexibility of a self-paced course
Discussion board activities for participants from across the country invite diverse interaction	Discussion board activities foster a common language and knowledge base among your staff
Assignments and discussion boards engage participants deeply, allowing time for deep reflections and greater connections	Assignments and discussion boards engage participants deeply, allowing time for deep reflections and greater connections
Instructor feedback is individualized and timely for every participant	Instructor feedback is individualized and timely for every participant
Two scheduled, optional Zoom sessions give participants direct access to this program's co-author and course instructor	Two scheduled, optional Zoom sessions give participants direct access to this program's co-author and course instructor
Participants familiar with the online Architecture of Learning course will recognize and follow this course's format easily	Participants familiar with the online Architecture of Learning course will recognize and follow this course's format easily
Every participant who successfully completes the course receives three transferable graduate credits (NOTE: be sure to check with your graduate program prior to enrolling)	Every participant who successfully completes the course receives three transferable graduate credits (NOTE: be sure to check with your graduate program prior to enrolling)
Course materials—course book (2020 update) and Toolbox (2020-21 update) — are not included in the course enrollment fee	Course materials — course book (2020 update) and Toolbox (2020-21 update) — are not included in the course enrollment fee
Spring 2021 course enrollment fee: $255 per person (NOTE: The next time this online course is offered, the fee will increase to $345 per person.)	Course enrollment fee: $345 per person
	ADDITIONAL OPTION: One two-day, in-person visit by Dr. Washburn in the school year following course completion for additional training in Beginning Reading and Content Area Reading, plus classroom visits and feedback Additional two-day visit option fee: $3,700

ON-SITE COURSE for your school	HYBRID COURSE (F&F only - available April 1, 2021)
Course instruction is designed and led in person by the program's co-author, Kevin D. Washburn, Ed.D.	Course instruction is designed by the program's co-author, Kevin D. Washburn, Ed.D. and led by the school's certified F&F Trainer
Course materials and training are current (updated summer 2020)	Course materials and training are current (updated summer 2020). Instructors use the online video bank to lead this course.
The on-site course is five, consecutive six-hour days (NOTE: This course can be scheduled in conjunction with the three-day Architecture of Learning course. Additional course fee applies.)	The Foundations & Frameworks course can be scheduled at the school's convenience and completed in five six-hour days
In-person discussions foster common language and knowledge base among your staff, and explore how implementation can meet the school's mission	Activity prompts direct discussions that foster a common language and knowledge base among your staff
Assignments and discussions engage participants deeply, allowing time for deep reflections and greater connections	Assignments and discussions engage participants deeply, allowing time for deep reflections and greater connections
Instructor feedback is individualized and timely for every participant	Instructor feedback is individualized and school-specific for every participant
One two-day, in-person visit by Dr. Washburn in the school year following course completion for training in Beginning Reading and Content Area Reading, plus classroom visits and feedback	ADDITIONAL OPTION: One two-day, in-person visit by Dr. Washburn in the school year following course completion for training in Beginning Reading and Content Area Reading, plus classroom visits and feedback
Three transferable graduate credits are available to each participant who successfully completes the course (NOTE: be sure to check with your graduate program prior to enrolling). An additional graduate credit fee per person applies.	Graduate credit is NOT available with this option
Course materials—course book (2020 update) and Toolbox (2020-21 update)—are not included in course fee	Course materials—course book (2020 update) and Toolbox (2020-21 update)—are not included in the Hybrid subscription
On-site course fee: $11,970*	One-year subscription: $345 per school*
*Fee includes: the Foundations & Frameworks Basic Course, all instructor expenses for the 5-day course AND the 2-day follow-up visit (travel, lodging, meals). PLUS, one-year access to the F&F Basic Course AND Architecture of Learning video library.	*Fee includes: one-year access to the Foundations & Frameworks Basic Course video library AND the Architecture of Learning video library
On-site course fee for Foundations & Frameworks plus Architecture of Learning: $17,540	Additional two-day visit option fee: $3,700