

ONLINE COURSE
for individuals

Online course instruction is designed and led by the program's co-author, Kevin D. Washburn, Ed.D.

Course materials and training are current (updated 2021)

The online course is open six weeks so participants can enjoy the flexibility of a self-paced course

Discussion board activities for participants from across the country invite diverse interaction

Assignments and discussion boards engage participants deeply, allowing time for deep reflections and greater connections

Instructor feedback is individualized and timely for every participant

Two scheduled, optional Zoom sessions give participants direct access to this program's co-author and course instructor

Participants familiar with the online Architecture of Learning course will recognize and follow this course's format easily

Course materials — The Architecture of Learning: Designing Instruction for the Learning Brain (book); Foundations & Frameworks Basic Course Book (2021 update); Toolbox (2021 update) — are included in the online course enrollment fee

Online course enrollment fee: $490 per person (this includes a course fee of $355 and a required course materials fee of $135)

ON-SITE COURSE for your school	HYBRID COURSE (Foundations & Frameworks only)
Course instruction is designed and led in person by the program's co-author, Kevin D. Washburn, Ed.D.	Course instruction is designed by the program's co-author, Kevin D. Washburn, Ed.D. and led by the school's certified F&F Trainer
Course materials and training are current (updated 2021)	Course materials and training are current (updated summer 2020). Instructors use the online video bank to lead this course.
The on-site course is five, consecutive six-hour days	The Foundations & Frameworks course can be scheduled at the school's convenience and completed in five six-hour days
In-person discussions foster common language and knowledge base among your staff, and explore how implementation can meet the school's mission	Activity prompts direct discussions that foster a common language and knowledge base among your staff
Assignments and discussions engage participants deeply, allowing time for deep reflections and greater connections	Assignments and discussions engage participants deeply, allowing time for deep reflections and greater connections
Instructor feedback is individualized and timely for every participant	Instructor feedback is individualized and school-specific for every participant
Course materials — The Architecture of Learning: Designing Instruction for the Learning Brain (book); Foundations & Frameworks Basic Course Book (2021 update); Toolbox (2021 update) — are included in the on-site course fee	Course materials — The Architecture of Learning: Designing Instruction for the Learning Brain (book); Foundations & Frameworks Basic Course Book (2021 update); Toolbox (2021 update) — are NOT included in the on-site course fee ($135 per participant)
On-site course fee consists of a Trainer Fee AND a Per-participant Fee: $5795 Trainer Fee (this includes ALL travel, lodging, and meals), AND a $245 Per-participant Fee (this includes a course fee of $110 and a required course materials fee of $135) For example: The TOTAL cost to train 12 teachers would be $\$5795 + (12 \times \$245) = \$8735$ NOTE: This fee gives the school one year of free access to the Foundations & Frameworks Basic Course video library AND the Architecture of Learning video library.	One-year subscription: $345 per school Subscription includes: one-year access to the Foundations & Frameworks Basic Course video library AND the Architecture of Learning video library
RECOMMENDED IMPLEMENTATION SUPPORT OPTION: One 1-1/2 to 2-day, in-person implementation support visit by Dr. Washburn in the school year following course completion for training in Beginning Reading and Content Area Reading, plus classroom visits and feedback. Fee: $3700 (includes all travel, lodging, and meal expenses)	RECOMMENDED IMPLEMENTATION SUPPORT OPTION: One 1-1/2 to 2-day, in-person implementation support visit by Dr. Washburn in the school year following course completion for training in Beginning Reading and Content Area Reading, plus classroom visits and feedback. Fee: $3700 (includes all travel, lodging, and meal expenses)